In worship we are thinking about Her Majesty the Queen and the Royal family

Today is a sad day in light of the news yesterday that Her Majesty the Queen has passed. I am sure you will join me and our school community in sending our deepest sympathy and heartfelt condolences to King Charles III and members of The Royal Family.

We have held a short worship this morning to commemorate Her Majesty the Queen. We talked about how she lived and embodied our School Christian Values of Service and Love and was the "Boss" of the Church of England. The children shared their thoughts on The Queen which included the following comments; a loyal leader, a person who helped others, a happy person and a Grandma.

We shared what would happen now across the country and explained that there would be a funeral after the period of mourning and that although we have feelings of sadness we should also remember a life well lived. The children have had the challenge to show our Christian Values of Service and Love in their actions today in and around school which of course they have excelled at.

Finally, Staff have received questions today about the Queen and her death, they have spent time answering them in a sensitive and informative way and will continue to do so.

At school we have all been deeply saddened and it is a huge loss to the country.

Thankyou Her Majesty Queen Elizabeth II for your incredible 70-year service.

Rest in Peace Ma'am
